Curatorial Statement

The Polish part of Project entitled Mobile Webcast Studio in Gdansk has a character of a virtual, temporal activity although it will be recorded and archivized. Laznia Centre for Contemporary Art as a virtual partner will be the initiator and transmitter of artistic events that are taking place in other partner cities, but also will be creating own activities from April to May 2006. We'll be creating the possibility to receive and transmit information and images of planned events like concerts, openings of exhibitions, performances, film presentations and meetings with critics, architects and artists. The most essential issue for Laznia is the annexation of public space by art and artists. We are developing the belief of the need and good effects of artistic activities in the project entitled The Outdoor Gallery of the City of Gdansk we are which purpose is the revitalization of the borough. The essence of meetings and presentations that are included in the Mobile Webcast Studio project will be the attempt to build a relation between the work of art in public space and the viewer.

About Gdansk

GdaDsk is the sixth-largest city in Poland, its principal seaport, and the capital of the Pomeranian Voivodship.

The city lies on the southern coast of the Baltic Sea, in a conurbation with the spa town of Sopot, the city of Gdynia and suburban communities, which together form a metropolitan area called the greater GdaDsk or the Tricity (Trójmiasto) with a population of over a million people. GdaDsk is, with a population of 460,524 (mid 2004), the largest city in the historical province of Eastern Pomerania. North lies the Kashubian Tricity: Rumia, Reda and Wejherowo.

GdaDsk is situated at the mouth of the Motlawa river, connected to the Leniwka, a branch in the delta of the Vistula, whose waterway system connects 60% of the area of Poland, giving the city a unique advantage as the center of Poland's sea trade.

Historically an important seaport since mediaeval times and subsequently a principal ship-building centre, GdaDsk was a member of the Hanseatic league. Today the city remains an important industrial centre, together with the nearby port of Gdynia, and is world famous as the birthplace of the Solidarity movement which, under the leadership of Lech Walesa, played a major role in bringing an end to Communist rule in the Eastern Block.
